Once upon a time there was a secret land tucked amongst misty green hills, untouched except by unicorn hooves and acorn roots. Seasons had gold. The acorns sprouted. And it is said that unicorns could be heard come and had gone. In the summer these hills toasted to a warm dancing upon this golden land. Whispered tales of this place reached the ears of people who had been searching high and low for the perfect gift for their king. Now they eagerly roamed the countryside searching.....for this magical land. Finally the people chose a quiet valley to rest in, though it bore no signs of unicorns, and sprouts, if there were any, were now covered in snow. These melted and mighty oak trees grew upon golden hills. Yet still they searched people worked hard to make this valley a home. Years went by. The snow and they strove. And at night, while fast asleep unicorns danced in their dreams.

Being— Becoming

Nostalgia revived by the CLC Concert band and Alumni choir, The Californians, captivated the attention of the audience which sat anxiously awaiting the Homecoming court revelation. Coronation 1979 was presented in the Gym on Friday evening, Nov. 2, at 8:00. Under the direction of Kris Grude, the event included Coach Bob Shoup introducing the 1979 Senior starting line-up, and recognition of four previous Queens, one of which was 1978's Queen, Kathy Burkhalter Stanley.

Coronation Highlights

Homecoming '79

1. The sky is the limit for the performances of CLC's Pep Band.
2. Freshman Princess Heidi Hayes
3. Sophomore Princess Sheri Moor
4. Junior Princess Kathy Schlueter
5. Kaptain Kazoo rides to victory with a CLC warrior.
6. Senior Princess Dona Robbers
7. Senior Princess Naomi Roufs
8. The football team, in unending conflict, comes out ahead.
9. Queen Valerie Black
10. 1979 Queens' Court

Still Crazy After All These Years

Rootbeer chugging, truck pushing, "Superman," and a world famous kazoo marching band demonstrated the 1979 Homecoming theme. Still Crazy After All These Years. Homecoming events set the atmosphere for what proved to be a memorable weekend highlighted by the 30 to 9 victory over the St. Mary's Gaels.

1. CLC's musicians lend their support.
2. Homecoming nominees for King Smen.
3. The Kazoo Band was supported by some of CLC's most spirited.
4. King Smen Tim Ayers.
5. Anthony Pao Pao, number 36, gains yardage against the St. Mary's Gaels.
6. The prize float, a Mt. Clef mouse is trapped after the parade.
7. The commuters cruise in their Homecoming float entry
8. Craig Morioka obviously agrees with CLC's triumph.
9. CLC's set-up crew rearranges the parade.

Halloween Haunts

1. Costumes of every kind were seen at the Halloween Dance.
2. Meet a prime example of a "soldier of menace."
3. Its this how CLC students study?
4. The band entertained a variety of creatures at the Halloween Masquerade Dance.
5. Take this Dr. Tonsing!

Halloween affords the chance for students to become someone or something other than themselves. We witnessed this transformation on October 27, at the Halloween

Dance. This Halloween night turned normally complacent b.o. and english majors into plump M&M pairs, cowboys, vampire queens, and daredevil rock climbers. For many, though hid beneath fantastic masks, it was a night of discovering how short-lived careless joy is.

God's Favorite

1. Performers nervously prepare to face the audience.
2. Paul Reimer portrayed a frustrated Job.
3. Peggy Gabrielson and Steve Lundeen break news of the suspected burglar to their mother, Carol Willis.
4. "Hollywood, here I come."
5. Job's family also suffers when the heat fails to work.
6. Another of the many tests Job must endure explodes.
7. Behind the scenes, Peggy helps Paul with his makeup.
8. Bruce Stevenson, as Sidney, reads a message from God to a somewhat puzzled Job.

CLC's own Job, Paul Reimer, withstood the temptation of the Devil on October 11-14. Neil Simon's play, "God's Favorite," a contemporary version of the Biblical story of Job, was performed by the CLC Drama Department. Directed by Janine Ramsey Jessup, the play was a sell-out for most of the performances. The supporting cast included Bruce Stevenson, Carol Willis, Andy Krammen, Steve Lundeen, Peggy Gabrielson, Rosalind Carter, and Larry Kelly.

CLC offers a variety of intramural sports from football to badminton. This year they were well attended. The thrill of competition and winning came second only to the fun of participation.

Intramurals

1. "Winning isn't everything, it's the only thing."-Vincent Lombardi.
2. Jump Ball-Mike Ettner controls the tip for the "skins".
3. "The only thing we have to fear, is ... defeat and an embarrassing performance in front of the coed costars"-unknown.
4. "With ordinary talent and extraordinary desire, plus perseverance, all things are attainable".-former high school football player.
5. Congestion on the court-the skins battle for rebound positions while awaiting the shot.
6. "football is a contact sport. The name of the game is Hit or Be Hit". Knute Rockne fan.
7. Long range bomber-Jim Meadows lets one fly from the perimeter.
8. Text book form- Mike McColgan pours in two from the outside for the "shirts" team.

Artist Lecture

This year's theme of "Faith, Science, and Future" brought to CLC prestigious names devoted to the well-being of humankind. From authors to poets to astronavants, audiences were confronted and challenged with conflicting and affirming view points concerning issues relating to the present and future.

1. Nikki Giovanni expresses herself poetically.
2. Former astronaut Brian O'Leary talks about space travel.
3. Sports psychologists Thomas Tutko speaks on competition in athletics.
4. Well known author Ray Bradbury holds his audience captive.
5. Physicist John Platt stretches his point.
6. Greenpeace representative speaks on the endangered among our wildlife.

FAITH, SCIENCE, AND FUTURE

Entertainment

Many students enjoyed the various types of entertainment at CLC. The Religious Activities and Service Commission presented a Christian Musician, John Fischer and comedy skits by the Christian group, Isaac Air Freight. The Social Publicity Committee presented another form of entertainment, a rock concert by the New Yorkers, and earlier in the year, a jazz concert.

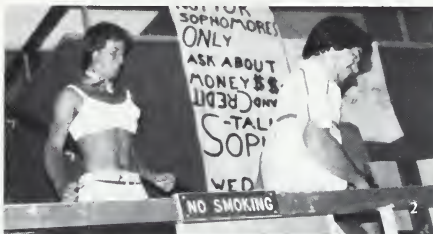

1. John Fischer entertains with Christian music.
2. Satan visits CLC.
3. Local groupies listen to the New Yorkers outside of Mt. Clef.
4. On Isaac Airfreight's "Let's Make A Deal," the contestant wouldn't trade his bag of salvation for anything.
5. A jazz group plays for jazz lovers early in the year.
6. Noontime entertainment was provided by the New Yorkers.

As T. O. Feed and Grain was transformed into "Casa de Lil", fashions became more avant garde than ever before, due to the secret buddy system. Students showed good sportsmanship in carrying out the tasks assigned by their secret buddies. Those men with guts (or well-meaning roommates) signed up for a secret buddy early in the week. Note: A secret buddy is some young lady who feels an obligation to ransack her assigned buddy's personal belongings and decide what is worthy of withholding—for ransom! Her secret buddy must then carry out the bizarre tasks she assigns in order to win back his prized possessions.

Cafeteria Capers

CONFOUND IT, LIL, - I GOT ANOTHER STEGGESORUS BONE IN MY THROAT.

1. Hula prima donna, "cucko-nut," (Jim Hazelwood), demonstrates his native dance.
2. Is he still in training?
3. An overzealous religion major descends to be among the less philosophical of his peers.
4. John Myhro continues his charade.
5. Is Dave Kunz a future CLC cheerleader?

Christmas Carolers Compete

Shower singers converged in the CLC gym for an evening of Christmas entertainment. Cowboys, surfers and elves helped to make the annual Dorm Caroling Contest an extra special event. Mt. Clef's version of "rudolph" won them the "most original" prize. Thompson, Benson, Mattson and Kramer carried off the prize for best overall carolers. The remaining dorms added to the general hilarity with crazy costumes and California "snow". The warmth of the Christmas spirit prevailed.

1. Santa sweet talks a young one.
2. A selected quartet adds variety to one presentation.
3. Thompson, kramer, Benson and Mattson House combined to produce some of the best sounds of the evening.
4. Old West End rocks to Jingle Bells.
5. One of Mt. Clef's surfers, Wendy Thomas, interprets "Silent Night" with sign language.

The tradition set by Saint Lucia in the early church is alive at CLC today. Last year money was sent as a gift to those starving in Cambodia. The joy and love of the festive season shone in many faces at the Christmas dance. Following the example of Saint Lucia, CLC sent forth both spiritual and physical food at Christmas and received joy in return.

Celebration With Candles

1. CLC co-eds wait hopefully for St. Nick.
2. Shelley Wickstrom is 1979's Lucia Bride.
3. Deck the halls ... and kitchens and offices and classrooms and ...
4. Decorations reveal a festive spirit.
5. Ray Salcido and Diane Wolf swing in style for Christmas.
6. Saint Lucias' 1979 court includes Sara Christiansen, Jeannie Winston, Maria Bianchi, and Heidi Hayes.
7. The Freshman princess is Heidi Hayes.

Urban Semester

1. Besides working, Urban Semester students were still involved in classroom studies.
2. Ron Reahrer, Director of Urban Semester, talks with Jack Ledbetter after chapel.
3. Mr. Time found his meter.
4. That's a Christmas tree, not mistletoe.
5. Coeds participate in culinary activities.
6. Joanie McClure finds time to entertain.
7. Who are those people in Urban Semester?
8. Orphan Annie wasn't an Orphan for long at Urban Semester.

Urban Semester gave students a chance to experience the "real world". People were able to have a variety of jobs including working at City Hall, NBC, ABC, and schools for the exceptional children. Between at-home classes and working, CLC's best also had to share cooking, shopping, cleaning, and other jobs that go along with home ownership.

Lord Of Life Congregation

Lord of Life Lutheran Congregation met twice weekly to share chapel and Sunday worship services. Students and faculty were encouraged to participate in different facets of the experience. The campus congregation sponsored the annual CROP walk on Sunday, November 11. Many in the Thousand Oaks community walked 10 miles in an effort to raise funds to combat world hunger. Other congregationally sponsored activities included sunrise breakfasts, the Rock-and-Roll-a-thon, and many exciting events during Joyous Festival of Life Week. Members of the congregation provided bible studies and spiritual support for each other, establishing a loving campus brotherhood.

1. Marvie Jaynes assembles the altar for worship.
2. Chapel offers CLC women a chance to express themselves dramatically.
3. Marvie and Pastor Swanson sing joyfully in celebration.
4. Campus worship one Sunday included a meditation by Scot Sorensen.
5. The element of trust is illustrated by Pastor Swanson.
6. Refreshments were welcomed by the enthusiastic CROP walkers.
7. Several participants rode in support of the cause.
8. Brent Bianchi assists Pastor Swanson in chanting the liturgy.
9. Checkpoints and rest stops were popular sites on the long walk.

Some CLC students experienced many new cultures during Interim. Sun or snow, oceans or mountains—something was offered for everyone. Tours went everywhere from China to Spain to South America, and even included our own California. Students gained new insight into other cultures, and valuable experience in cooperation and appreciation. Many returned enriched and eager to share their various adventures. These pages include some of the colourful scenes they saw in other lands.

A Global View Of 1979-80

1. Students and their luggage await a customs check in Spain.

2. Baskets make a cozy resting place for infants in Guatemala.

3. A replica of Columbus' ship, the "Santa Maria," rests in Portugal.

4. A solitary Chinese basket weaver practices his art.

5. Beautiful parrots flock in the streets of Guatemala.

6. Children gather to stare curiously at the American tourists.

7. Mrs. Zimmerman explores Lisbon, Spain.

Expanding Our Horizons

1. A marimba player in the gardens of Chichicastenango.
2. Donkey carts are a typical sight in the streets of Portugal.
3. CLC "Friendship Force" invades Excelsior.
4. Leslie Zak and Steve Tamburino clown around in Barcelona, Spain.
5. Teachers and students set off for the jungles of Guatemala.
6. Big sister protects baby in the Flores market place.
7. A tranquil river in Soochow, China.

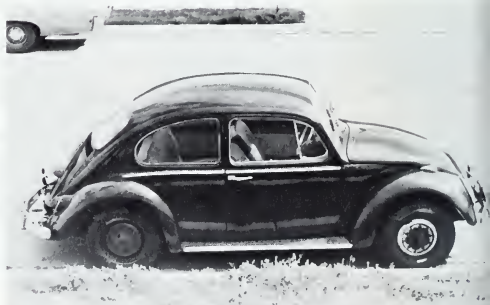

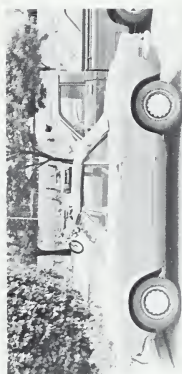

Climate And Cultural Challenges

1. Nothing is like home, sweet home, even in the jungles.
2. Wine-tasters, Ted Labrenze and Jonathan Boe, relax after a rough day.
3. John Kuethe reads his poetry to swooning women, in the best Spanish tradition.
4. A lonely boatman passes on the Petex-poten River.
5. Jerry Slattum seems to have found the "one way" to learn Spanish.
6. Stately Buddhist temple graces the Soochow landscape.
7. Intrepid adventurers BEFORE braving the Guatemalan jungles.
8. A market scene in Chicimula.

Touring With Concert Choir

1. Oh, those wonderful gas stations!
2. Members of the brass quintet get their thrills in a mature, adult fashion.
3. All eyes on "Dr. Z.", please!!
4. Tour director Bob Shoup, alias "Idiot", chats with former CLC President.
5. Fun and games on the tour bus.
6. Kathy Johnson practices a new style of backyard conducting.
7. Singers may slide here, but not on the notes.

Concert Choir spent an exciting year of travel—to Arizona, Southern California, and even Hawaii. One memorable highlight was the private backyard performance for former President of CLC, Dr. Knutson. He was both surprised and deeply touched. The choir's performance included both classical and modern pieces, with a smattering of sprightly Irving Berlin tunes. Congregations and communities throughout the South west and the tropic isles enjoyed fine choral music.

Celebration Of Life!

The CLC family experienced a week of spiritual renewal as the New Earth and RASC presented "Joyous Festival of Life Week". For those who braved the chill, the sunrise breakfast and meditation instilled renewed gratitude for the many gifts God had given them, such as the sunrise. Dr. James Nelson hosted several lectures and discussions during the week on the theme of embodiment/human sexuality. Folk and square dancing provided an atmosphere of warm fellowship Friday night in the gym, and Saturday the Christian band "Daniel Amos" brought a hard-driving rock message to more than 1000 people. All in all, the campus community celebrated an uplifting and joyous week.

1. Lead singer of Christian rock group acknowledges audience.
2. Bob Nelissen and Kent Jorgenson don't seem to suffer from stifling their "sensuous feelings".
3. Kathi Schroeder exemplifies the spirit of the week, celebrates life.
4. Early morning sunshine brings smiles to Monica Crockett and Heidi Hayes.
5. The celebration of life includes a celebration of Christ's resurrection.
6. Karen Hartmatz and Sally Hillman glow with pride at their cooking Finesse.
7. Dr. James Nelson emanates a true physical warmth in his discussion of Christianity and Human Sexuality.
8. Celebration of Life week encourages free expression of emotions.
9. Pastor Swanson distributes communion on hilltop.

Supporting/Inspiring

1. President Mark Mathews
2. Della Greenlee, secretary to the President

When Mark Mathews assumed the helm of CLC nine years ago, he took charge of a young, struggling institution near the brink of collapse. He faced a one million dollar operating debt. The future, to put it mildly, looked bleak. The issue was survivability.

Nine years later as we close the 1979/80 academic year, California Lutheran College, under the guidance of Mark Mathews, has done more than merely survive. CLC has established itself as a financially stable institution and secured a reputation of academic excellence in Lutheran higher education. The key question confronting CLC has changed from "What must we do to survive?" to "How can we continue to improve?" A truly remarkable transition!

During Dr. Mathews tenure as President, CLC operated in the black eight of nine years and accrued a surplus sufficient to erase the enormous operating deficit. The quality of professors, regarded by many as the outstanding feature of the college, improved markedly over the decade. Undergraduate enrollment rose nearly 33%. The creation of new graduate programs sparked an even more dramatic increase in the number of graduate students. The construction of new dorms, the Nelson Room, Nygreen Hall, and the cafeteria expansion project continue to contribute in a significant fashion to the improvement of the college's residential and academic environment. Furthermore, Dr. Mathews noticeably broadened the base of support for the college. This was evidenced by the formation of new groups such as the Committee on New Dimensions and the Council of Advisors. More importantly, President Mathews served as an exemplary figure in the ongoing nourishment process of CLC's Christian element, an element which ultimately remains the center of the college's vitality and purpose.

But Mark Mathews personal qualities leave just as great an impression as his more obvious and tangible contributions as president. He is known as a person who exudes a positiveness, in all his endeavors and relationships, rarely seen among individuals. His level of sincerity and integrity is of such magnitude that people not fortunate enough to come to know him well, wonder if it is indeed possible to be that sincere.

He is also marked as a man of boundless energy, a characteristic reflective of his zest for life and his work. His expertise as a manager enabled him to create and coordinate a highly competent and responsible management team. As a speaker, he continues to be widely sought. And his uncommonly high degree of accessibility to students and personal involvement in students' lives has been and is greatly appreciated and admired.

Everyone touched by CLC in the 1970's and who will be touched by CLC in the decades to follow is indeed indebted to Mark Mathews. We eagerly await your return to CLC as professor in 1981, President Mathews!

Uniting/Acting

Executive Cabinet shared responsibility with the Senate in developing effective communication throughout the campus. The Cabinet has been a collection of officers generating support and encouragement for making ideas and events worthwhile. The commissioners were responsible for their specific ASCLC budgets and presenting to the community the core of student activities including Artist Lecture films and Insight programs, AWS/AMS events and commuter participation.

EXPANSION . . .

1. Debbie Spotts, ASCLC Treasurer and Holly Beilman, ASCLC Secretary.
2. Cindy Saylor, ASCLC Vice President.
3. Erik Olson, Religious Activities and Service Commissioner and Lorrie Bursvold, Pep Athletic Commissioner.
4. Kathi Schroeder, Artist/Lecture Commissioner.
5. Kathy German, Director of Campus Activities.

6. Discussions are what make Executive Cabinet successful. Tori Nordin appeals for Cabinet support on a proposal for the new headliner machine for the Echo.
7. Ron Kragthorpe, Dean of Student Affairs.
8. Jim Hazelwood, Social Publicity Commissioner and Tori Nordin, Student Publication Commissioner.
9. Bob Hitchcox, Commuter Coordinator.

GROWTH

Jim Kunau expended behind the scenes strength to the ASCLC, as student body president. His high goals and consecrated effort strengthened ties with the faculty, administration, and student body, brought a creative challenging, and productive Spring Week, supported the need for major moneys to be spent in developing the college's newspaper and radio programs, to touch on a few. Within and without the governing bodies of Senate and Executive Cabinet, Jim made himself excessible, welcoming input from the college community and putting these ideas into action.

Jim Kunau, ASCLC President

NEW GOALS

This year's Student Senate extended beyond being the ideal "voice of the student body." Members combined as a concentrated force stepping in directions of campus wide needs. A pacesetter goal of blending the community and college proved to be the outstanding theme of Senate. Careful attention was directed toward reestablishing the unique bond between students, faculty and administration. The year was complete with vocalizing concerns and reevaluating goals including: beautifying our campus and increasing visibility of ASCLC to the community. Senate took responsibility in making concrete decisions and major appropriations of student funds. They were an interested body highly capable of making things happen from sponsoring events such as the CROP walk to releasing funds for new Echo equipment to participating in the decision of a new college president. Sensitive of the need for all of us to communicate, Senate has striven to reach and involve students, faculty and administration.

Let's
Go
Lu!!

The 1979-80 Cheerleaders boosted our King-men football team all the way to the NAIA Championships. They led the crowds in last years year's favorite cheers, as well as learning many new stunts and routines to boost spectator spirit. This year's yell and cheerleaders included: Marty Crawford, Linda Lenander, Holly Beilman, Sandy Schmidt, Chris Steele, Tracie Malloch, Lynn Fredson, Fick Bier, Shari More, Dona Robbers, Jerry Grubb, Kathy Schlueter, Karen Johnson, Cathy Graf, and Jackie Stoker.

1. Let's get a little bit ROWDY!
2. Karen Johnson's enthusiasm sparks CLC to victory.
3. "I hope I can remember the next step"
4. Jackie Stoker and Dona Robbers share a special moment.

International students added a lot to our campus this year, bringing us new insights on politics and world affairs as well as contributing to the year's events. They hosted their annual International Dinner, and brought interesting and stimulating films and speakers to the campus. These students are, from left: Levin Lo, Wendy Tsang, Simon Layton Jones, Hamid Honarpisheh, Rosa Haleooyan, Shirin Parsinejad, Elaheh Madjedi, Saleem Rana Vahi Babayans, John Davila, Shin Kin. Students from afar

1. Students cook up surprises for the International Dinner.
2. Speaker Ramin Bet-Younan from Iran addresses students.
3. International students display their flag.

Business Association

Led by President Rick James, the Business Association sponsored many activities such as work shops, dinners, and special events in an effort to expose students at CLC to the business world and to provide career information in their field of study. Guest speakers gave students the opportunity to meet with people in their field of study and to make students aware as to what different jobs are available to them.

The Country Club Life!

Sun not only brought smiles to campus but coaxed on the California custom of shedding a bit more than rain gear. Whether at the pool, park or by the dorm CLC women radiate in the sun.

Geology Club

The 1980 Geology was very active sponsoring fundraising activities to finance trips to several parts of California, Utah, and Arizona. With their advisor, Dr. Jim Evensen, the group explored Death Valley, the High Sierras, the Grand Canyon, and parts of Arizona and Utah.

Kappa-Rho-Kappa

Kappa-Rho-Kappa is a fellowship group geared to getting a better perspective of church work and the parish ministry. Some of the members have been brought up as "pastor's kids" and have an awareness of the costs and benefits of such a family life. The group gets together on a social basis with the religion professors, which opens doors to casual and intimate relationships with them. The goal of the group is to better prepare themselves for work in parish ministry. Their aim is to glorify our Savior Jesus Christ in all their meetings and activities.

This year, the staffs of the Echo and the Kairos both did a tremendous job in bringing the written word to the CLC campus. In spite of several staff changes mid-semester, the Kingsmen Echo consistently brought high-quality news to students and faculty alike. The Kairos and the Morning Glory staff (not pictured) also aided in the literary awareness of the college community. Pictured here are Echo staffers Linda Quigley, Lois Leslie, Kathy Hitchcox, Diane

Kingsmen Football: "1979 Year Of The Champs."

The 1979 football season was christened "The Year of the Champions "IV". The three-squad system used by Head Coach Bob Shoup was fortified with plenty of offense firepower, defense experience and special team vitality. The Kingsmen once again were a factor in the NAIA championships. In addition to good depth, a collection of star performers added luster to the CLC hopes of championship this season. Captains Skip Relyea, Dan Hartwig, Steve Bogan, Andy Andreolli, and John Craiotto led their men with confidence and success. An excellent pair of kickers in Dan McPherson and Kent Puls bolstered CLC's wins. McPherson held CLC and top national records for his performances. Premier pass receiver Mike Hagen also held CLC and top national records for his precise timing and speed. A new inspiration to the offensive squad this season was Anthony Pao Pao, who made his path known. The name Dan Hartwig meant timing, aim and connection for Kingsmen fans. Hartwig also held CLC and top national records in passing. Ranked seventh in the NAIA, it was cooperation and blending as a team that carried the Kingsmen through a successful season.

Knave Football: The Year Of The Challenge

Belittled with injuries and a schedule that included seven major junior college opponents, the 1979 Knave football program was dubbed "the year of the challenge." Under the new direction of Head Coach Pat Jones, '79 was a building year. Unity, dedication and hard work became the roots to this squad and 1980 predicts speed and strength to be added to the Kingsmen next season. Players like: Victor Hill, Mike James, Shawn Speed, Paul Flugum, Bryan Cindall, Steve Hagen, Doug Page and Gil Borquez will be a welcome addition for Varsity Head Coach Robert Shoup.

The Knaves opened the '79 season with a 36 to 14 shelling over Victor Valley Junior College. Three straight defeats followed including a 20 to 0 beating by the nation's #1 ranked Junior College, Santa Ana. The Knaves bounced right back with a 34 to 20 victory over consistently tough Cal Poly San Luis Obispo, followed by close defeats to Mount San Jancinto and Imperial Valley Junior College. This roller-coaster type season for the Knaves in '79 has been frustrating, finishing with a 2 and 5 record, but 1980 looks for big things from Coach Jones and the Knaves.

The 1979 Soccer team was led by Head Coach Pete Schraml and captain Frank Espegren. The team started out with their best season, rated seventh in the West. Unfortunately, with two games left in the season the team was forced to forfeit all their their games due to an ineligible player. The team concluded their season with a 6 and 1 league record and 6 and 3 overall record. Highlighting the season, the team won 6 straight games and scored a total of 19 goals.

Cross-Country: Year

Regal's

Similar to last year, with almost the same group of women, the 1979 women's cross-country team established itself again as a power among small-colleges and proved to be a contender among the nations leaders. Coach Dale Smith brought spirit and togetherness weaving them into a unified winning team. Respect and honor and a lot of hard work between Coach Smith and his women gave them that added determination to go all the way to qualify for nationals. Due to an out-dated policy the whole team did not travel to nationals. Cathy Fulkerson, captain, represented to CLC in nationals, in which she placed nineteenth. Laurie Hagopian also had a fine year, being the only team member to run the 3-mile course under eighteen minutes.

A Year Of Ups And Downs

The 1979-80 Kingsmen basketball program could better be summed up as a roller coaster year. It was a season filled with new highs and the usual lows. Senior Randy Peterson and Junior Mark Caestecker sparked elected All-League 1st team. Caestecker also broke the school assists record with 157 passes that led to baskets. This year was a hopeful one for the Kingsmen. Head Coach Don Bielke recruited stand out, Don Mock. Mock was a strong candidate all league choice and player of the year, but unexpectedly left the team before the season was finished. The Kingsmen were 4-4 in league play and 14 and 13 overall. The Kingsmen finished strong winning 5 of their last 7 games, but fell short of a playoff birth. Seniors Randy Peterson and Dave Taylor are the only two graduating from the squad.

Cagers Finish 8-1

The Junior Varsity Basketball team sparked this year finishing with an 8 - 1 League record. The team blew practically every opponent off the court averaging 96.2 points per outing and allowing the opposition only 68.8 per game. Although the J.V. season was short to say the least, the team was tested. They lost their only game to Claremont by seven points. Head Coach Don Bielke is looking for big things from this young squad as they perform in varsity action. Quickness, Team Play and rebounding were three assets to this year's standout performances.

1. Bill Burgess drops one in from the line as Mike Adams looks on confidently.
2. Greg Kniss accelerates driving to the basket, uncontested for another two points.

Kingsmen Track And Field:

Hard work, dedication and discipline were three factors that made 1980 a successful season for the Kingsmen Track and Field team. Under the direction of Coach Don Green, the team competed in 3 meets, 3 relays, 7 invitationals, the N.A.I.A. District 3 meet and N.A.I.A. Nationals if runners qualified. Coach Green felt that the team was strong this year and is looking forward to seeing more depth in '81.

Kingsmen

The 1980 Kingsmen Wrestling team, under the new coaching direction of Pat Jones, had what could be termed a frustrating year. The team consisted of only six members and of the six only one outstanding wrestler. Greg Ronning, the team's MVP went to the nationals this year and finished strongly. Balancing the attack for the Kingsmen were Sonny Medina, Carl Bish, Dale Christiansen all returning from last year's team. Joey Robinson and Don Meyer also supported the team with strong individual performances. 1980 was a building year for the Kingsmen and Coach Jones hopes to build a stronger program next year.

Women's Basketball 1980

What appeared to be a very poor outing for the Regal Basketball team, losing their first six straight league games Coach Nancy Bowman and the squad should be commended for their fine turn around. The girls fought their way back into the league handily defeating their foes and closed the 1980 season with a 6-6 League record and 11-11 overall. The team was sparked by the play of Ginny Green, Carrie Landsgaard, Wendy Nielsen, Irene Hull and Barbara Avery. Tara Hove, Carol Ludicke, Lisa Catanio and Betty Luttrell added solid performances to the team.

"High Hopes For 1980"

CLC Varsity Baseball Coach Al Schoenberger described his thoughts of the 1980 season as cautiously optimistic. "Coming off a disappointing 10-24-1 season last year, the coaching staff did some careful recruiting. Schoenberger felt the Kingsmen had a strong pitching staff this year as well as a balanced hitting attack. All-District player in 1979, Ron Smith spark-plugged the squad with his attitude and play. Gary Fabricus, a senior and transfer Jack Willard made a strong double play combo in the field and aided the team with their slugging ability. The Kingsmen's high hopes paid off with their hard work and unity.

1. Steve Sercu takes a rip at the ball in an early season game.
2. Tom Ginther watches it go as he hits one up the alley.
3. Craig Morioka seems to be a little bit turned around.
4. Assistant Coach Doug Cowen leads the Kingsmen in infield warm-up.

4. Craig Moriako gets his bead on the ball and prepares to rip away in Kingsmen season action.
5. Todd Dinsmore, #8 looks on as Kingman takes a cut at a pitch in early season play.
6. Kevin Gross fires to first base in an attempt to pick the runner off. Tom Ginther looks on.

1980 Womens Softball:

The women's softball team, under the direction of Head Coach Cathy Mohr and Assistant Coach Kevin Pasky had a challenging season. The Regals relied heavily on their power at the plate with sluggers like Ginny Green, Wendy Nielson, Carole Otterslad and Lisa Catanio. Lacking in depth and performance against their opponents, the Regals made up with their desire to work hard and maintain a positive attitude through the season.

Kingsmen Tennis Team

The 1980 Kingsmen Tennis team had another excellent season under the coaching direction of John Siemens. Outstanding individual play was the key to the Kingsmen success. Jim Rower, John Whipple, Bruce and Allen Cudahey, Mark Spearman, Dave Ikola, Paul Anderson, Mark Bittner and Thayne Martin made up the team. Five members of the team returned from last year showing that the team was strong up the alley in experience.

Womens Tennis

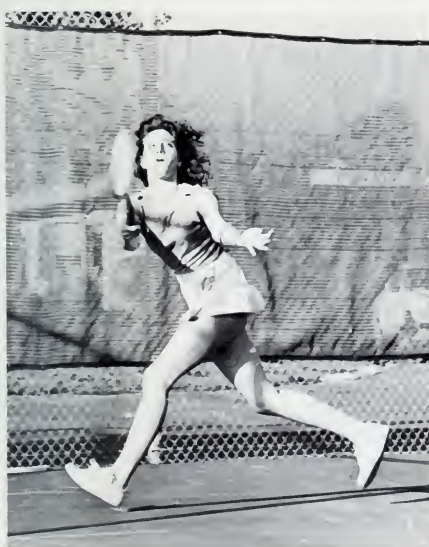

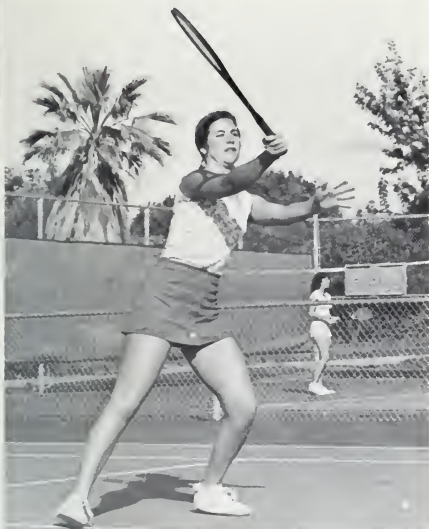

Under the coaching instruction of Jeff Vine, the 1980 Women's Tennis team had one of their most successful seasons ever. The Regals carried the strong season of 1979 into the '80 season to end the season's performance just as strong, if not stronger than before. Karen Newmeyer and Irene Hull were key contributors to another fine year of play as well as the new stroking of Roblee Brady, Lisa McCollum and Betsy Reiss. A strong team spirit along with hard work and dedication made 1980 a year to remember for the Regal netters.

1. Lynn Mienke shows her powerful forearm tennis stroke.

Kingsmen Volleyball:

The 1980 Kingsmen Volleyball team was coached by Donny Hyatt and assisted by Chris Edmonds. 1980 was a good year for the Kingsmen "Spikers" and "Spitt'n Leather" was the theme for the team. Spikers like Kevin Slattum, Dave Puls, Cary Hegg, Scot Sorensen and Kevin Anderson spearheaded the pounding attack. Setter Rex Kennison and players, Mike Varvais, Rob Lavender, Rick Moren and Scot Stormo also added to the Kingmen offensive and defensive action. Two years ago the team went to the nationals and were ranked #1 in the nation. Coach Donny Hyatt felt this team was a strong one also, but with the change in scheduling from the past two years the thought of this team being ranked #1 wasn't thought of. Team unity and their high spirited attitude was a key for another successful Kingsmen season.
